“Since we live in an age of innovation, practical education must prepare a man for work that does not yet exist and cannot yet be clearly defined.”

--Peter Drucker

Don't Miss our Annual Innovation Awards Dinner at USD on May 19

The University of San Diego will be the perfect setting for CFF's 2011 Innovation in Education Awards' dinner program, "Celebrating Innovation and Honoring Achievement," on May 19, 2011 beginning at 5 p.m.

Impactful, innovative, inspirational, and achievement-driven school programs in San Marcos, Poway, Solana Beach, Escondido, El Cajon, Lemon Grove, and Santee will be honored, as well as recognition of this year's Academic Achievement Scholars.

KNSD's Artie Ojeda will be the emcee this year at what promises to be a great event for the entire education community.

Special Opportunity for Educators

Thanks to our generous sponsors, the cost for educators to attend this year's general reception, dinner, and awards program is only $50. It's not too late to reserve space for what promises to be an evening of recognition and inspiration spread across the entire San Diego education community.
